

COME, FOLLOW ME • NEW TESTAMENT 2027

Be of Good Cheer ...: Thou Hast Testified of Me

July 26–August 1

Acts 22–28

ACTS 22:1-21; 26:1-29; 28:22-41

Not disobedient to the vision

Paul freely told how the risen Lord had changed his life.

“I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.”

ACTS 26:19

ACTS 23:1; 24:16

A conscience void of offence

Through Christ, we can repent and live with a clear conscience.

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men.”

ACTS 24:16

ACTS 23-26

Almost persuaded

Felix trembled and Agrippa wavered; open hearts receive more.

“Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian.”

ACTS 26:28

ACTS 23:10-11; 27:13-25, 40-44; 28:1-10

The Lord stood by him

In prison and shipwreck, the Lord stood by His servant.

“And the night following the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good cheer, Paul.”

ACTS 23:11

ACTS 27

Heed the warning

The centurion ignored Paul's warning, and the ship was lost.

“Sirs, I perceive that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage.”

ACTS 27:10

ACTS 23:11

“For as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome.”
